

JUROR'S NAMES ARE DRAWN BY COUNTY DADS

COMMISSIONERS DRAW FOUR AND FIFTY NAMES TO CON-STITUTE NEXT PANEL.

Last evening the board of county commissioners concluded the lengthy task of drawing 450 names that will constitute the next jury panel for this year. The names were taken from the list of registered voters for the different precincts in Nye county and it has been a rather tiresome task. The duty of drawing the panel started about a week ago and at odd moments the work has progressed. While the majority of the jurymen are taken from Tonopah, a fair representation is made by the outside camps.

At the present time there are no cases demanding a jury trial on the docket in the district court, but as soon as the grand jury convenes, there is a probability that several juries will be demanded. The grand jury will be named before long by the district attorney and district judge.

GOV. DICKERSON IS A PURIFIER

According to the following from the San Francisco Call, ex-Governor Dickerson is to return to Nevada as the great purifier. He did a little purifying if we remember right last July in Reno when he assisted in the booming of the great fight fiasco:

"OAKLAND, Jan. 5.—Former Governor D. S. Dickerson of Nevada, who is staying in 4091 Howe street, Oakland, will take a vigorous part in the fight for a better divorce law in his state when he returns there. He intends to remain in Oakland for a few days more before going back to Nevada. He holds no official position in the state, but will be in close touch with the legislature during its present session.

The fight will be directed chiefly to an amendment of the law so that it will be necessary for a person to live in the state a year before filing suit for divorce. At present, six months' residence in the state is sufficient, and Nevada, the only state in the union so easy for divorce aspirants, is consequently the mecca for those who want separations.

Former Governor Dickerson was not backward in expressing himself about the Reno lawyers and others, whose influence has prevented a change in the law heretofore.

"The law as it is is a burning shame," he said; "it should have been changed long ago, and would have been if the people of the state had their way. Public sentiment throughout Nevada is very much opposed to the law that makes divorce easy and that has disgraced the state throughout the country. It is only in Reno, which makes money out of the divorce colony, that there is any sentiment in favor of the present law. Lawyers there want it to be as it is, of course. At the last session of the legislature a bill making a year's residence necessary was introduced and passed the lower house. It was killed in the senate by Reno lawyers' influence. In fact, an attorney who was senator from Washoe county was largely instrumental in killing the bill. This time we are going to make another effort, and we are going to fight it through."

JAIL BREAKER MAY BE WANTED IN CALIFORNIA

MINA, Jan. 10.—That E. G. Phillips, who escaped from the jail here and was almost immediately arrested, may be forced to face a more serious charge than those of forgery and jail breaking, is indicated by the receipt of advices from Chico, Cal., to the effect that Phillips is wanted there to answer to a charge growing out of a divorce case in California.

At the Democratic caucus this morning it was decided not to bind the members to vote for Raker on the first ballot for United States senator. thought likely that the ballot will be taken before 1:30 p. m.

By Associated Press.
VANCOUVER, Jan. 10.—In an heroic effort to save his train today just as it reached the open draw of the False creek bridge Great Northern Engineer George Baker applied the air brakes and the next instant plunged with the engine into the water and sunk from sight. As the water struck the firebox the engine's sizzling steam concealed everything from view. A few minutes later the engineer came to the surface and was rescued. The only injury was a badly strained back. The fireman jumped safely.

COMMENCE WORK ON THE INDIAN

W. B. MILLIKEN PREPARES TO DEVELOP PROMISING PROP-ERTY AT PIONEER.

After spending a few days in Goldfield securing a hoist and other equipment, William B. Milliken left for Pioneer yesterday afternoon to start operations on the Indiana group, which adjoins the famous Original Pioneer lease that started the boom in that camp about two years ago.

Mr. Milliken will sink the Indiana shaft to a depth of 400 feet and then crosscut to the vein, which is believed to be the same as the Pioneer. He has a working capital of $20,000 with which he expects to make a great little mine. A large tonnage of $15 ore is already opened, and this will be systematically developed with a good force of men. A contract has been made with the Nevada-California Power company for electric power, and work of installing the plant will begin at once.—Goldfield Tribune.

CHOICE NEWS FOR MOSSBACKS

ROBERT BURDETTE HITS NAIL
ON HEAD IN DISCUSSING INTERESTING SUBJECT.

What does a man owe to his town? "He owes this duty to himself and the town—to own part of it. Ever so small a lot if he can't own a big one. A forty-foot front if he can do no better. But he should own a part of the town. That gives him a stake in it."

"That man who owns a home in the town never calls his town 'it.' When he speaks of it, whether it be London or Tal-Holt, New York or Waikiki, he says WE—OUR town. And he has a right to. He is a stockholder, a partner."

"More than that, when he owns a piece of ground, farm or town lots, he has a stake in the EARTH. He is a citizen of the universe. His property extends from the brimstone out to the stars. Even now they are disputing concerning the right of an aliph to sail through the air over a man's house without the owner's permission. The very thought is enough to make a man feel chesty. And with good cause."

A man who owns his home begins to study his ticket six weeks before election day. He scrutinizes every name on it, and looks up the candidates' record. It is the man that can tie up his real and personal property in a handkerchief that shuts his eyes and votes the ticket the boss gives him without unfolding it.

"A man owes it to his town to boost it, in public on all occasions and at all times. The corrections of its failings and faults are for the privacy of the home circle. A man who would thrash his boy on the front steps of the court house ought to be whipped out of town. The citizen who welcomes the stranger by telling him what government we have, what a corrupt set of officials misrule the town; how the town lags behind the age

MUSICAL MICE BUILT NEST IN BUTLER PIANO

ARE DISCOVERED WHEN PIANO
TUNER IS AT WORK ON MUSIC BOX.

Up until a few days ago Jake Goodfriend, manager of the Butler theater, possessed a family of musical mice, but now his animals have departed for other haunts. The truth of the matter is that Jake was unaware of being the owner of the mice for they were discovered in a comfortable nest that had been built in the piano. The discovery was made by Dick Rabe, a piano tuner, who was going over the Butler music maker. The nest had been built in one corner and when the animals, which consisted of the two parents and nine children, were found, Jake happened to be hovering around. His stay was short for he immediately left on important business that necessitated his attention on the front sidewalk.

However, his champion fox terrier, Craps, who has a weakness for killing mice, came to the rescue and tackled one of the parents. The dog made but one tackle and the mouse caught him by the lip and held fast. Then Craps started to join Jake.

The family was exterminated by Mr. Rabe and Mrs. Goodfriend, and it was several hours before Jake would return to the interior of the theater. He says that he is not afraid of mice, but is kind hearted and does not like to see them killed.

Mr. Rabe stated that it is a common occurrence for mice to build their nest in a piano, as they are attracted by the music. During his career as a piano tuner he reports having found a number of such nests.

NAVAL OFFICER TALKED TOO MUCH SAYS PRESIDENT

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Taft today decided that Commander W. S. Sims, the United States naval officer who at a recent dinner given in London by the lord mayor, declared that if Great Britain ever were seriously threatened she could depend on "every man, every dollar and every drop of blood in this country," should be publicly reprimanded.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Mexican Minister of Foreign Affairs Crecy wires from Mexico City that the federal forces occupy the city of Guerrero and that the rebels are in full flight. Complete tranquility reigns in republic.

In all matters of progress and development, that it is a dead town and will be so as long as certain men rule it, is an undesirable citizen.

"When a man tells you that what his town needs is a dozen first-class funerals, he may be correct. But HE should be the first buried."

"A man owes it to his own town to shout its advantages from the housetops. The entire registry lists should be the promotion committee. If necessary put blinders on the visitor and let him see, but what you want him to see. When he asks what chance a poor man has in town, tell him the truth. Tell him the poor man is the only man who has a chance. And that is no joke. Show him the beautiful homes of the men who came here with a capital of working hands and thinking brains. Tell him the story of a man who began with day wages. Tell him you think there should be a law compelling the poor man to give the rich man a handicap when they come into competition with each other so as to give the rich man a chance. It is penniless boys like John Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Phil Armour and that class, who backed the rich men's sons of their poverty-days clear off the camp."
